

For immediate release: 03/30/2020

Dear Valued Customers,

We at NCCM and Thomas Rolls prioritize the safety and well-being of our employees, the public, and our customers and we recognize the important role we play in supporting our customers' ability to safeguard the nation's vital infrastructure. NCCM is taking all steps necessary to promote the health of employees and is taking prevention measures that support the vital operations of our customers. We continue to evaluate and monitor the severity of COVID-19 and continue to follow all measures recommended by the CDC to keep our employees, vendors, and customers safe and healthy.

We are happy to announce we will remain open and operating under the current regulations and guidelines outlined in regards to COVID-19. Our service and technical support team remains on call and accessible while working remotely, and a core manufacturing team is ensuring uninterrupted production of vital orders for our critical business customers, all while practicing vigilant and enhanced hygiene and sanitization practices directed by the CDC.

We are grateful for our employees and the crucial role they are playing in our community and to our customers by providing world-class nonwoven rolls to the primary metals, automotive, machinery manufacturing, and material handling industries.

God bless, keep strong, and stay healthy.

Sincerely,

NCCM Company, LLC

Additional information from the CDC regarding ways to protect yourself and your work environment can be found here.